Friday April 17th 2026,

Dear parents,

I hope that all members of our Straits International School Rawang community enjoyed not only a safe & restful break but also a smooth & purposeful start to term 3, which began earlier this week.

As is always the case, we published our term 3.1 Curriculum Overviews to all parents at the beginning of this half-term period. It is, quite simply, essential that parents are fully-informed about the learning that is scheduled to take place in your child's lessons over any coming period at all times. Our parent-friendly documents, which teachers put together in a bespoke manner for their classes, allow you to see not only what academic content your children will be studying in lessons but also what knowledge, understanding and skills they align with. In addition – because I know that, quite rightly, we have some very ambitious young people within our Straits International School Rawang community – there is also a column in the document which states 'what does excellence look like?' The information here outlines what a student would need to both know and do in order to get the highest marks in a topic; should anyone be keen to do any additional study outside of normal lessons, this column would tell them what would be most worthwhile in terms of research tasks. Finally, there will also be a section which indicates how students will be assessed for each subject and topic over the course of the term. Again, this should provide clarity for those who are looking to prepare as thoroughly as possible for any upcoming examinations.

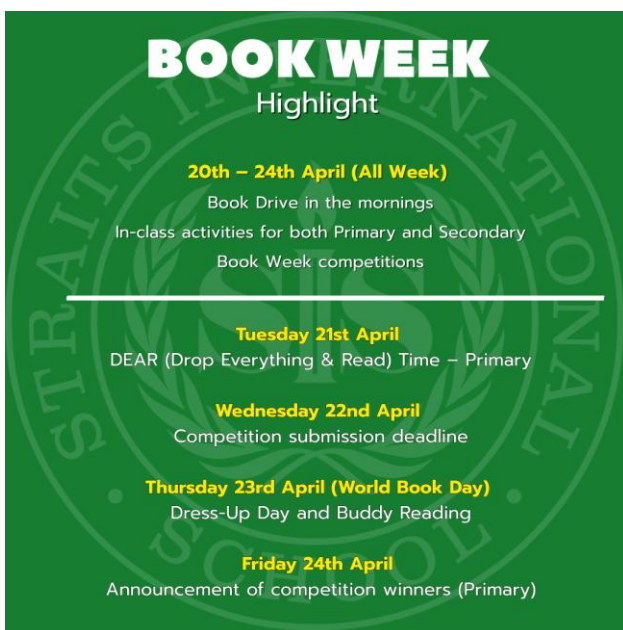

The information in our Curriculum Overviews aligns with the weekly updates posted in the learning sections of our newsletters, of course. In addition, in August 2026 – at the beginning of the 2026/2027 academic year – we will also publish our Curriculum Road Maps for all parents. Our Curriculum Road Maps, which teachers will put together over the course of this term, will present a macro image a student's learning journey in each subject as they progress through our school over time. All learning in our school is deliberately connected and should be seen as a seamless pathway from beginner to expert, with no fillers and nothing added simply to keep students busy. Everything has been thought out by our team of professional educators, with all the dots connected so that learning makes sense and so that it supports our students towards academic excellence.

Next week is Book Week, which of course is also linked to many aspects our school's curriculum (as well as being quite good fun!) Please look out for information shared with you about the various activities and sessions that both Ms. Pearline & Ms. Steph have planned for this important part of our school schedule.

As always, if any parents would like to contact me about any of the points above, or indeed about any other issues, then you are always welcome to do so via the email address below.

Yours sincerely,

Steven Miles.
